

Rev. Justin Charles Gable, O.P., Ph.D.

Education

Masters of Divinity

May 2014 Dominican School of Philosophy and Theology
Berkeley, California

Ph.D., Philosophy

February 2007 Fordham University, New York
Dissertation Title: "Being and the Transcendental Reduction:
The Possibility of Ontology in Edmund Husserl's Phenomenology"
Dissertation Advisor: John J. Drummond, Robert J. Southwell, S.J.
Distinguished Professor and Department Chair
Areas of Specialization: Phenomenology and Medieval Philosophy

M.A., Philosophy

February 2001 Fordham University, New York

B.A., Philosophy, summa cum laude

May 1998 University of San Francisco

Academic Posts

Assistant Professor, Dominican School of Philosophy and Theology

September 2014—Present

Courses Taught: Aristotelian Logic
Philosophical Ethics
Contemporary Philosophy
Twentieth-Century Thomism
The Masters of Suspicion
Phenomenology of the Other
The Life and Thought of Edith Stein
Approaches to Embodiment

Instructor, Dominican School of Philosophy and Theology Berkeley, California

September—December 2010

Course Taught: Aristotelian Logic

Instructor, Fordham University, New York

January 2001—May 2002

Courses Taught: Philosophy of Human Nature
Philosophical Ethics

Professional Memberships	American Maritain Association (Vice President and Program Chair, 2012-2016) American Catholic Philosophical Association American Philosophical Association Society for Phenomenology and Existential Philosophy Dominican Colloquia in Berkeley, Organizing Committee (Chair, 2015-present)
Research Interests	Phenomenological approaches to intentionality, in dialogue with medieval and contemporary philosophy of mind Medieval philosophy: metaphysics and epistemology Phenomenological approaches to consciousness and intersubjectivity, with application to cognitive science and philosophy of mind Phenomenological approaches to ethics, virtue theory, and natural law Issues in Bioethics Phenomenological approaches to language, in dialogue with structuralism and post-structuralism
Articles and Book Reviews	“Revisionism or Within the Roman Catholic Ethical Tradition? Pope John Paul II on Assisted Nutrition and Hydration,” Catholic University of America Press, forthcoming 2017. “Direct Service Between Athens and Jerusalem: On the Purpose and Organizing Principles of the Dominican Colloquia in Berkeley,” (with Fr. Bryan Kromholtz, O.P.), Nova et Vetera 14, no. 2 (2016): 403-07. Book Review: Metaphor and Continental Philosophy: From Kant to Derrida, by Clive Cazeaux, in Review of Metaphysics 63, no. 4: 911-13.