

PUBLIC LECTURE

A Paradigm for Understanding the Catholic Church in China: Is Matteo Ricci, SJ Still a Model?

Fr. Robert E. Carbonneau, CP with a response by Dr. Thomas Cattoi

Matteo Ricci, SJ - an Italian Jesuit missionary to China, 1582-1589.

Fr. Carbonneau is Executive Director of the US Catholic China Bureau in Berkeley. His research and publications concentrate on Passionist history especially in West Hunan, China and the overall relationship of twentieth-century American Catholic missionaries to the U.S. Department of State, the Holy See and the Chinese government.

Dr. Cattoi is Associate Professor of Christology and Cultures at the Jesuit School of Theology, Dwan Family Endowed Chair in Ecumenical and Interfaith Dialogue and a member of the Core Doctoral Faculty.

Tuesday, April 12, 7:00 pm

DSPT Classroom 1, 2301 Vine Street, Berkeley

Due to limited seating, RSVP recommended

Visit: dspt.edu/church-in-china