

DOMINICAN SCHOOL OF PHILOSOPHY & THEOLOGY

27TH ANNUAL AQUINAS LECTURE

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE IMMATERIAL?

Presented by, Therese Scarpelli Cory, PhD

Therese Scarpelli Cory is the John and Jean Oesterle College Chair and Associate Professor, University of Notre Dame.

The philosophical debate about the existence of non-physical or immaterial substances is seemingly endless. But it is not so easy to say what exactly it would mean for something to be “immaterial.” Dr. Cory will propose a concept of immateriality, drawn from Aquinas’s philosophy of mind.

Tuesday, February 13 at 7:30 pm
2301 Vine Street, Berkeley, reception to follow

Due to limited seating – RSVP required
dspt.edu/aquinas2018

dspt.edu

(510) 849-2030